W. C. T. U. Officers.
The annual business meeting of the W. C. T. U. was held at the home of Mrs. McDonald on Friday afternoon, Oct. 12, 1906. The officers elected for the coming year were as follows:
President—Mrs. Gilkey.
Secretary—Mrs. Smart.
Treasurer—Mrs. Cooper.
Vice Presidents—Mrs. Dean, Mrs. Staff, Mrs. Putnam, Mrs. Sheard, Mrs. Mellick and Mrs. Muldon.
Mrs. Ed. Hengen of Pittsville was in the city on Friday the guest of Dr. and Mrs. O. T. Hengen.

Entertainment a Success.
The concert and dance given last Thursday evening by the Troubadour entertainment company under the auspices of St. Catharine's guild was well attended and everybody seemed to be quite well pleased with the show from start to finish. A large number stayed to participate in the dance, and a very pleasant time was the result.
Miss Antonette Smith left on Saturday for the town of Hansen where she will teach school the coming year.

ADDITIONAL LOCALS.
—Watch for Holman's Ad next week.
The B. S. C. club will give another one of their social dances in their hall Friday night.
—New goods are arriving daily at Holman's.
Winifred Yeshke expects to leave for Elton in the near future, having purchased a blacksmith shop there.
—With every $5 sale at Holman's on Saturday a present will be given.
James Carrington, who was operated upon for appendicitis at Riverside hospital last week, is reported to be getting along nicely.
Miss Harriet Williams, who has been at Morrillan during the past two weeks on account of the serious illness of her father, expects to open her studio on Oak street again on the 24th instant.
—Our plaid belts are beautiful. Come and see them at Holman's.
The Oshkosh and Stevens Point Normal football teams played at Stevens Point Saturday afternoon the score resulting 0 to 0. The Oshkosh team was said to be much heavier than the Stevens Pointers, but stood no show at any time of winning the game.

The President's New Cabinet.
President Roosevelt has announced his new cabinet, the changes to be made upon the retirement of Secretary Shaw and Attorney General Moody. The cabinet will be as follows:
Secretary of the Treasury—George B. Cortelyou.
Postmaster General—George Von Meyer.
Attorney General—Charles J. Bonaparte.
Secretary of the Navy—Victor H. Metcalf.
Secretary of Commerce and Labor—Oscar S. Straus.
The new members are Mr. Straus of New York and Mr. Meyer of Massachusetts, ambassador at St. Petersburg.

Roller Skating Starts Thursday, November 1st.
—Manager Hamilton announces that the Opera House will be opened for Roller Skating on next Thursday, November 1st. And will be open every Thursday and Saturday afternoon and evening for the balance of the winter. The best of music will be furnished by the Grand Rapids Band. Thursday afternoon will be reserved for ladies only, at which time competent instructors will be on the floor to instruct beginners. Prices, Skates 25c, Spectators 10c.

Helped at Dedication.
Among the speeches delivered at the dedication of the new library at Appleton on Friday last was one by Prof. H. S. Yonker of this city. That it was a good talk on the subject of libraries goes without saying, for when Mr. Yonker takes hold of a matter of this kind he has something that is worth listening to.

Bert Walters was at Pittsville on Sunday and brought back with him Mrs. Walters and children, who will make their home in this city.
Eugene Warner, one of the veteran cranberry growers of the town of Oronoco, was in the city on Saturday on business.

WON GREAT MATCH.

Fred Beell Defeats Dan McLeod in Two Straight Falls at Chicago.

Fred Beell, the Marshallfield wrestler, won a great match in Chicago last Friday night when he defeated Dan McLeod, the champion middle weight wrestler of the world. The following from the Chicago Tribune, is a pretty good account of the match:
"In one of the cleverest and hardest fought bouts ever seen on a local mat Fred Beell, the Wisconsin champion, threw Dan McLeod, the old Montreal star, in straight falls in the windup of the wrestling show at Brook's Casino last night at catch-as-catch-can."

"Despite the fact that Beell and McLeod are without exception the two best light heavy-weights in the world, the attendance was poor, due possibly to the suspicion that the match might not be on the level. Sooner, however, did the men begin to wrestle than the spectators saw their mistake, and everyone in the building settled back in his seat to watch a battle which proved to be a thrilling affair from start to finish, and that the little giant from the north won was due chiefly to his age, his youth being the deciding factor, after McLeod, who is thirteen years his senior, had fought on gamely but lacked the endurance to hold the youngster longer."

"When the men stripped for action there was nothing to choose in size. Each weighed about 170, and both were thick set and built close to the ground. Beell would pass for Charlie Brown, the celebrated driver of the Broncho, and like the gentleman, has never been known to drink a drop of wine or tobacco in any form. His skin glowed with good health and he appeared trained to the bone. McLeod, on the other hand, while in good condition, showed the traces of his years of training and scores of hard battles on the canvas. But his friends thought his experience would carry him through to victory."

"Referee Siler explained that the strange hold would be barred and that flying and rolling falls would not count. Then the pair of bulls got together. McLeod was the aggressor, but he was surprised to find Beell the most slippery proposition he had ever tackled, and every time he would try for a hold the Wisconsin man would shift to another position."

"For ten minutes Dan tried everything in the catalog on his enticement, but failed to secure anything like a winning hold, and tiring a trifle, Fred assumed the aggressive and went after Dan in hurricane fashion. Finally, after they had been at it twelve minutes, Beell obtained a half nelson that looked like the money. Dan, however, wriggled out of it cleverly."

"At sixteen minutes McLeod got him man by the feet and intended to stand Fred on his head for a pivot, but with a couple of froglike leaps Beell dragged himself out of the difficulty and in a moment was on top of Dan. Then the men struggled like mad for a long stretch without either gaining an advantage, but the pace was beginning to tell, and it was only a question of time when one or the other must weaken."

"At twenty three minutes Beell secured another half nelson that looked like the goods, but once more McLeod broke the hold, and Fred made up his mind to try something different. For ten minutes Beell played for a hammerlock and finally got it. Every one thought Dan would go under surely, but with one mighty twist he broke the hold. Beell was after him like a cat after a mouse and in less than a minute obtained another hammerlock, this time a double hold. Slowly he began to roll Dan over onto his back, but the Scot would not yield and fought his way out of his opponent's clutches."

"They had gone thirty two minutes now and Dan was tiring fast. Beell saw that the deadly hammerlock was doing the work and continued to play only for this hold, and after using it twice more shifted to a half nelson. At last he got Dan where nature refused to respond, and in just thirty three minutes and thirty six seconds from the time they got the word to wrestle, pinned the game fellow's shoulders to the mat."

"After fifteen minutes' rest the men came out for the second and what proved the deciding fall. Beell looked fresh and strong, but McLeod was the worse for wear and appeared a bit distressed. They made it lively from the beginning, with Beell doing the leading. But Fred employed entirely new tactics, playing almost entirely for a head hold, which, to the crowd, looked like a strange but was absolutely fair."

"McLeod had plenty of fight in him, and did his best, but could not get away from the head hold. Finally after nineteen minutes and seven seconds of strenuous work Beell got a hold above Dan's nose, which shut off the latter's wind, and, altho McLeod tried desperately to break it, he succumbed to the inevitable and gradually sank to the floor a beaten man. "Both were cheered to the echo when they regained their feet and McLeod when able to speak said the winner was the best man of his weight he had ever met."

MARRIAGE LICENSES.
Chas. Sonnabend and Helen Schilhan both of Marshallfield.
Mary Damman of Milladore and Joseph Sullivan of Kilbourne City.

For Register of Deeds.

We present to our readers herewith a picture of Charles E. Boles, the candidate for register of deeds of Wood county on the democratic ticket. Mr. Boles is a man whom the voters of the county can place the utmost confidence in. He is an active and intelligent young man, with a training for several years past that especially fits him to fill the office for which he has been chosen by his party, and if he is elected there is no question but what he will serve the county to the best of his ability.

Mr. Boles was born and reared in Wood county, and for several years taught school, being a graduate of the local high school and the Stevens Point Normal. He then went into the real estate and abstract business in this city and was appointed city clerk four years ago, which office he has since held and filled in a manner that is above reproach.
He is not a politician in any sense of the word, and it was with reluctance that he accepted the nomination for register of deeds, but he was so ably fitted for the position that his friends insisted that he make the run, feeling that in placing him in nomination they were giving the people of Wood county a chance to vote for a man whose ability could not be questioned.
There are no frills on Charley and the voters of Wood county will do well to put him into office.

Bound Over to Circuit Court.

Wm. Davis was arrested on Friday charged with having broken into Frank Boyanowski's saloon on First Avenue and stolen a quantity of whiskey, alcohol and cigars.
Davis said he was not guilty of burglary, that he had just knocked in a window of the saloon during the evening with the intention of finding a place to sleep and that when he found he was in a booze euphorium he just took a nap before going to bed. However, he was not able to sleep very well, according to his own story, probably because there was a hardwood floor in the saloon and had been used to a nice soft pine floor, so he got up at four o'clock in the morning and sought new quarters.
When he was seen next morning he was said to be staggering under the punch of a "tag," and the justice bound him over to the circuit court to await trial.

Railroad Talk.

It is again rumored that the Chicago, Milwaukee and St. Paul railroad will build a Berlin-Wausau extension next year. In anticipation of the coming event the people of Stevens Point are bestirring themselves to induce the company to touch at their city provided the extension is built. As Stevens Point would be the largest place anywhere along the line, it ought not to be difficult to induce the company to swing a trifle out of a straight line in order to reach that city. But the doings of railroad companies are beyond the ken of ordinary individuals and there is no telling what they might be induced to do.

Declare 10 Per Cent Dividend.

At a recent meeting of the stockholders of the Onoda Oil Co., a dividend of 10 per cent was declared, and the company has been in existence since about ten months. About $8,000 of the stock is owned by parties in this city. A. J. Hasebrook being one of the directors. The company owns the wells on lease No. 73, near Ramona, Oklahoma, and has had excellent success ever since operations were commenced. The stock is said to be a good investment at ten times what it was originally sold for, and our citizens are to be congratulated on being interested in such a paying property.

Convicted of Manslaughter.

Alexander McEwen, the man who has been on trial for the murder of Frank Grain of this city, was last week found guilty of manslaughter in the first degree at Minneapolis. The jury was out for only an hour. Grain was wounded to death in a resort in Minneapolis, and the district attorney in summing up the case told McEwen that he was fortunate in having the charge against him manslaughter instead of murder in the third degree. The penalty is from five to twenty years in prison.

Death of Mrs. Lanouette.

Mrs. Z. Lanouette died at her home in this city on Thursday morning after an illness extending over several months from paralysis. Deceased was forty-six years of age and is survived by her husband and two adopted children. The funeral was held on Monday morning from St. Peter and Paul's Catholic church, Rev. B. Hogenroth officiating.

DOINGS IN PANAMA.

George Huntington Favors the Tribune With Some Interesting Information.

La Brea, Sept. 18, 1880.
Grand Rapids Tribune.
Gentlemen: I am building a new pole line and stringing two pairs of wires from La Brea to Panama and Ancon. The first mile is across an old volcano crater and the balance of the distance is along its verge over hills of stone and dirt which may have been thrown up from the bowels of the earth ages ago. For their formation is the great pile of rock and dirt heaped to mountain heights, for Ancon hill is of this formation and between Ancon and eight hundred feet high and is one of the hills which form the edges of this great crater as is also La Brea hill.
The latter is of a more stable foundation and only about one-half as high. The formation of La Brea hill is rock. The layers of rock have a peculiar formation, the rock near the surface being soft and easily dug with a pick or digging bar. Where the action of the weather gets at it it crumbles away and forms dust in the dry season (good dusty dust), and in the wet season (good muddy mud). Just before a rain you have fine hard footing and one half hour later, after a tropical shower, it is the muddest mud you ever saw.
Well, a little farther down from the surface is a hard formation which a Gringo engineer at Culabra took to be fine rock to make macadam roads. (Gold hill at Culabra has the same formation as La Brea hill), and proceeded to make a very fine road on the top of the hill at Culabra where all the head officers have been moved to and a good piece of road building would bring his hill to the notice of all the big chiefs. It was pulled with a steam roller from the states so it could be made fine. It was fine. It was a love of a street. The big chiefs walked over it and were happy. It comes a Panama rainstorm and the big chiefs had to go back through the jungle, for every step they took on the dusty street punctured it as far as their knees.

Getting back to my story: This crater is in the neighborhood of eight miles in diameter. The Rio Grande river flows thru it and it is more or less of a swamp, inhabited by mosquitoes and alligators. As my new line is near Panama it is necessary for me to go into Panama to telegraph for supplies, etc. I noticed nothing doing yesterday, but today I had to go to the canal building near Cathedral Plaza and I commenced to rubber at the decorations and met the following propositions (thrown across the street): "Welcome," "Salud al digno burgues," "Saluda A Root," "Panama or Saluda," "Al Banstro Root," "En Honor Secretario Root," "Al Honorable A Root," "Panama A Root," and numerous other flag stuffs stuck in a barrel of dirt to form a support to keep them in place. These decorations were numerous from the Panama railroad depot to Santa Anna Plaza, but from there to Cathedral Plaza there had not been much done as yet, but at Cathedral Plaza the trees and shrubs were decorated with artificial flowers and the Plaza was being surrounded with a string of incandescent lights about two feet apart. The supports for these lights were four by four decorated with artificial flowers stuck in barrels of dirt as before.

Also while running my pole line thru the jungle I ran across the noted French pig sty, which was built of rock and cement with cement troughs for the pigs to eat from. There were about fifteen staterooms with water connections are of cement and about twelve high. A galvanized roof covers all. The outer walls were of chicken netting of about two inch mesh from the top of the cement wall up. The sty is situated in a forest of mango trees and during the mango season these hogs surely lived high. I am getting so I can go a mango myself and don't care about having any hogs kept in this old sty and would not mind building a line thru to Panama every season. From July to September 15th I gained 4 pounds while stringing that half mile of line. We hear the tenderfoot say that mangoes will give one the fever. It does. I had a fever every time I ate one. A fever for more mangoes, and then wished I had been one of those hogs so someone would bring the mangoes to me.

Adios until Thanksgiving day.

When I will tell you all about it. Yours truly,
George Huntington.

While the people of Central Wisconsin have been enjoying fairly nice autumn weather the past few days, citizens in the west have been experiencing a record breaking snow storm, with mercury uncomfortably close to the freezing point. At Denver the press dispatches say there has been a fall of twenty-five inches of snow with lesser falls in other places. We have plenty of snow up here in Wisconsin as a general thing but it usually waits until winter before it comes.
John Miezvitz of Milladore transacted business in the city on Tuesday.
Rev. Geo. E. Dewey and family have moved into the Cole house on 6th street.
Rev. A. Lincoln Putnam was at Stevens Point over Sunday where he filled the pulpit in the Baptist church.

Caught a Real Fish.

A great many of our local anglers go out every year and catch fish. Some catch large fish and some small ones, but when they tell the story they are all of good size, not counting the extra large ones that always break the tackle just as they are brought to the top of the water.
But Dr. Loane has delivered the goods. He did not go fishing and after a few days' stay, came back and say that he had captured a market long that weighed 22 pounds and leave you standing on the street corner with your mouth open wondering what a 22 pound fish looked like.
The fish was delivered to the market and shipped it down and it was on exhibition in the Wood Co. drug store window, and anybody that doubted the weight of the fish could look at the scales. The fish is about three feet long, but to a real enthusiastic fisherman it looked to measure about a rod in length with a weight of about fifty pounds at least. It is certainly a beauty and is worth making quite a trip to catch.

Fuel is Scarce.

Local dealers report that wood is a scarce article at the present time, while the demand for this sort of fuel was never better than it is now. On account of the scarcity and consequent high price many are fighting on burning soft coal during the coming winter. The price of this commodity is also high, but those who purchase are not compelled to take quite such a poor grade as is often the case with wood.

During a conversation with one of the local dealers, that gentleman stated that four foot mixed wood was selling at $3.25 per cord and that maybe would be $4.00 if he had any, but that it was impossible to secure a supply at the present time.

Is Pushing Brewery Matter.

Frank Boyanowski reports that he is going ahead with the matter of organizing a brewing company in this city, and that he is now ready to hear from those who wish to subscribe for stock in the new enterprise. The company will be capitalized for $50,000, and Mr. Boyanowski has headed the list by taking $25,000 of the stock. He expects to hold a controlling share of the stock and control the plant himself. He has been negotiating with the Wisconsin Central people and expects to secure a piece of land near the Central depot to use as a site for the new plant, which would be very conveniently located and easily accessible to three railroads.

Will Hunt Ducks.

Guy Wood, Henry Donditz, Bobt. Morse and Dr. Chas. Panamintville left on Tuesday for Rice Lake where they will spend a few days hunting ducks, provided there are any of this species of game to be hunted. Rice Lake is said to be a pretty good place for ducks when they are flying, but the weather has been so mild and pleasant so far this fall that very few have made their appearance, and it is expected that they will come with a rush when the flight begins.

For Selling Liquor Illegally.

Joseph Provost, who runs a saloon at Rudolph, was arrested one day last week by the state authorities charged with selling liquor without a license. From all that can be gathered it would seem that the whole matter was a mistake on the part of Mr. Provost, as he had secured a license for selling malt liquor and supposed that this included all the intoxicants usually sold at a saloon.

Business Change at Rudolph.

Fred M. Logan, who has run a general merchandise store at Rudolph for several years past, last week sold out the place to A. J. Kojawa of Stevens Point. Besides the money consideration involved in the deal Mr. Logan took a farm near Junction City as a part payment. It is reported that Mr. Logan will engage in farming.

Sold His Pacer.

On Saturday Dr. V. P. Norton sold his pacer to Stevens Point parties for $325, quite a good profit over what he paid for the animal. Under Dr. Norton's training the horse developed considerable speed and secured a mark of 2:34. The animal was seven years old and showed evidence of developing into quite a horse.

Body Taken to Illinois.

The body of Annette Rote, which was interred in Forest Hill cemetery in 1903, was exhumed on Monday and shipped to Dakota, Ill. where it will be buried. The deceased was the wife of J. Q. Rote and formerly resided at Vesper.

A STIRING REVIVAL

The Church of Christ is holding a series of special Gospel meetings under the leadership of Evangelist E. B. Barnes of Noblesville, Ind. Mr. Barnes is a rugged ready speaker and handles the great questions of religion in a strong and forceful manner. Splendid audiences are attending these meetings and all the signs point to a genuine revival of interest in the Christian religion in Grand Rapids. Meetings are held in the G. A. R. hall and begin promptly at 7:30 each evening. Plenty of good music. Mrs. Dora D. Deau of this city is singing some fine gospel solos in such a way as to reach the hearts of the hearers. Come and get acquainted with Evangelist Barnes.

May Have Vaudeville Show.

There is some talk of including Grand Rapids in a series of towns in this locality for the purpose of having a sort of vaudeville circuit. The party who has been talking of the matter is a Mr. Myer, who was one of the managers of the Metropolitan Carnival Co., which held forth in this city a week last summer.

The same scheme is being worked in other cities throughout the state, and in most cases it has proven quite successful. The shows are run on the continuous plan where people can go in and sit down and remain until they have seen all there is to see, the same performance being repeated several times in an evening. A company generally stays in a city from three days to a week and then moves on to the next place in the circuit.

May Publish Another Daily.

W. R. Yeager, who has been associated with A. L. Fontaine during the past few weeks in the publication of the Daily Reporter, has severed his connection with that paper. Mr. Yeager reported last week that it was his intention to commence the publication of another daily paper in this city immediately, or as soon as he could get his press here, which he stated was stored at Wausau. With two daily papers and three weeklies the news of our burg ought to be pretty well handled.

A later talk with Mr. Yeager developed the fact that he had abandoned the idea of publishing another daily in this city, but was going to return to Wausau. He stated that he might return here after the first of the year and buy out Mr. Fontaine's interest in the Daily Reporter and continue the publication of that journal himself.

Miller-Fritz.

Alfred Miller and Miss Anna Fritz were married on Thursday afternoon at two o'clock at the Moravian church, Rev. C. A. Mellicke officiating. They were accompanied by Misses Clara Miller and Anna Koon and Henry Fritz and Harry Miller. After the ceremony there was a wedding dinner served at the home of the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Herman Fritz, and during the evening the guests indulged in dancing. Mr. and Mrs. Miller will make their home in this city.

Was Not a Partner.

William Waldo wishes it stated that he was not a partner in the Grand Rapids Art company, but was merely working for the company for the sum of $10 per week. He states that his contract with the company was so worded that at the end of a month he could have bought a third interest in the concern had he cared to do so, but that he never owned any interest in the concern during their stay in this city.

Spent a Social Evening.

The members of the Catholic Order of Foresters met at their hall on Wednesday evening to have a social time. There was a musical program, dancing and card playing. Mrs. C. E. Boles took first prize at the card playing. Miss Mary Rousch second and Fred Schnabel was given the consolation prize. Those present report a good time.

The Governor is Coming.

It is expected that Governor Davidson will arrive in the city this afternoon at 1:35 over the Northwestern road, and that he will deliver a speech in the opera house sometime between two and three o'clock this afternoon. The exact time cannot be given, as there may be a slight delay on account of trains.

Religion in the College.

Men learn that religion is not a system of philosophy or a secret society, but an impulse and an endeavor to make this present world a better place to live in. Time, so far as I can learn, is the heart of the religious life of the American college. It beats true and in time with the heart of the Christian gospel.—Outlook.

Monument to Kenton.

A monument to the memory of Simon Kenton, pioneer Indian fighter, was unveiled at Old Town, 12 miles west of Springfield, O., in the presence of a large crowd. The monument is built of huge boulders suitably engraved and marks the spot where Kenton ran the famous Indian gauntlet.

Summer Lies.

She lies beside a babbling brook, this pretty summer maid; beside her lies an open book, also a silk sunshade. Upon her bosom lies a rose, in her hand lies a fan; and at her feet, as you'd suppose, there lies a nice young man.

Organize Flinch Club.

A number of the ladies of the first ward have organized a flinch club and meet at each others' houses every week. Last week they met at Mrs. Alf. Canning's and gave a tin shower for Grace Huntington.

High School Notes.

The football team will go to Wausau Saturday to play the High school team of that city. During the past week the team has been doing some hard signal and scrimmage work which has developed them into a much faster team. And it Wausau has any kind of a team, a good game will be promised to all who go and will for the "Red and White."

There was no school Thursday afternoon and Friday on account of the teachers going to Appleton to attend a meeting of the Northwest Teachers Association.

Ruby Natwick, a member of the class at the visited school Monday afternoon.

How to Save FUEL

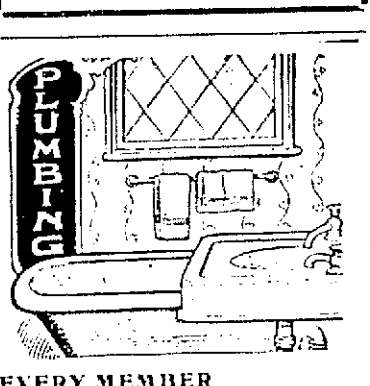

Briefly Buy a Cole's Hot Blast Coal Stove

It cuts the fuel bill in two because it turns the gas arising from burning coal into gas, goes via the chimney in other stoves. Wool Always the Best Material for Undergarments — Bloomers Good for Both Boys and Girls—Sensible Sweaters.

With the summer at an end and the schools again open, the careful mother is laying in a supply of warm clothes for the little folks, says a writer in the New York World.

To begin with, put away the short socks and sandals. Long hose are now the best and healthiest. Many draughts pick up over the cold room floors and with socks, no child is likely to take severe cold. This, of all things at the beginning of the school term, is to be deplored.

The summer underwear clothing should be replaced by warm, knit garments which hug down to the little bodies and absorb perspiration. When playing, a child is apt to become overheated, and when he comes in, he is chilled with the perspiration, the woolen underwear maintains its warmth and absorbs the dampness.

One who has made a study of the clothes that children should wear, advises not a pair of serge bloomers for the day he chilly or a pair of light-colored cotton flannel ones if it be warm.

These are for both girls and boys, and not merely are they regarded as excellent from a point of saving in the household labor, but they are much better for both boys and girls than the little tight under drawers that used to be worn. These bloomers, fastened at the knee with a rubber, keep the upper part of the legs warm and comfortable and, kink as much as they please, the children's legs will still be warm.

Over these, for the girls, is worn a little fitted skirt that tucks in at the waist. However, the mother may employ the method of dressing the child as is in the Russian smock with leather belt. This stays on over the bloomers, as in the case of the boys, and the child is never troubled with the untidiness of dirt and waist.

There are very sensible sweaters for children nowadays. And, if the mother has the time she can make one herself, or if there is a grand old maid in the home, surely such work could delight her fingers.

The sweaters for the children are best in the colors of dark blue and red.

By the way, this is a rather important point in the selection of children's wear. It is absolutely certain that the children are not permitted to wear flannel clothes that have become dusty. Every sweater should be washed at least once every two weeks, and shaken thoroughly and hung out of doors at night.

This is important inasmuch as the sweat causes chafe to the face, the child at play cannot help but get the garment dusty, and the soiled little things are filled with a great deal of dust that would not be there if the sweaters were kept clean.

For the boys of the family, serge bloomers, bloomers, or if they are too old for bloomers, a pair of knickerbockers and a sweater, completed the first fall outfit. It is just as important to keep the boys' wooden clothes from being dusted as it is the girls' little flannel. It is all probability the mother will need more attention because the boys play in a lot more places, and these clothes are apt to get backed up when boys play "Indian" and give Wild West shows.

These clothes are sensible, and they can be made pretty. Pretty clothes do not need a lot of fiddle and fuss, but neat trimmings can be put on, and when in proper use a little girl in neat school dress and a white pinafore, she looks apple, corn, tidy and well cared for, much better than she with the ruffles that will get dirty and look disheveled.

The two rules to be observed are health and hygiene in the dressing of the little ones, and the following schedule have given one mind comparatively near these rules.

Fault of Amateur Dressmakers.

Nine out of ten amateur dressmakers will cut out a small sleevelet for a large arm's eye, or vice versa, without the least idea of the relation of size between the two. Another evil lies in "taking in" promiscuously. "It is too big under the arm," or, "It is too long in the shoulder seam," I shall have to take in a little. No! It will only make matters worse by constantly pinching in and cutting off any portion of the material in one place; it must be taken in by better methods. Slope it away gradually down the seam or work the material out in two or three places, never take the material out abruptly in one spot.

Constructing Clothes.

In making the sleeve in children's dresses, make them quite full and long enough to turn a hem and rather at the wrist. When the sleeves are too short, rip out the hem and rather into a cuff. Have a few tucks in the bottom of dresses. They improve the looks of a garment and when made lengthwise it is easier to rip out a tuck or two than to let down a hem.

Pattern Is a New One.

The fancy work pattern and design something absolutely new in the way of the clever work agency that can be converted into bags for holding the work. The design is shown as a plain pattern and also drawn up at halfmast, when it forms a little pocket in washwoman fashion. Again when it is taken off by drawing up the belt ribbon, it can be made into a complete bag.

Eyelet work done upon a complete bag is enough to take inch and a half shape. If firm and sheer handkerchief linen is used, and the edge is finished with ironing, a pointed little washwoman, which is perfect for washing purposes, is the result, and nothing could be more attractive than the appearance when finished with the ribbon. For the hurried worker embroidery edging may be used instead of the handholding when a small bag is applied to the outside, from under which the goods can be cut away.

Basket Brooches in Favor Again.

An evidence of the popularity of mixed color schemes in jewelry is shown in the revived popularity of the little flower baskets which were fashionable many years ago. The baskets of gold lattice work are filled with flowers made of various colored jewels. The ornament is used for a brooch. These brooches, when formerly worn, were usually of French filigree and paste jewels and were exceedingly pretty, although comparatively inexpensive.

A number of them were disposed of at the sale of the effects of the late Mrs. Gilbert, the well-known actress. They went for a mere song, although they were, in fact, prettier than the new brooches of similar pattern. Pink and white stones are also a fashionable combination. Among the most attractive bracelets at the jeweler's are those of pink and white baroque pearls linked together with a deeper pink amethyst.

until the time has come for ironing.

This should always be done before the silk is damp, a piece of muslin being laid over the article so that the heat does not press directly on the surface.

It must be remembered that if the water is too hot it will discolor white silk, while if the soap is not entirely rinsed out of the material it will make it hard and papery.

A Game of Words.

A new game of words is to give each guest card and pencil with the word "January" at the top of the program. Allow a half hour and give a prize to the one making the greatest number of words from the letters contained in "January," barring proper names. The one making the fewest words to receive a consolation prize.

Calendars are suitable souvenirs all during the present month. History makers are in vogue with a month pasted on each blotter, the twelve being tied together with a broad ribbon. Use red blotters and a green ribbon.

Hotel at Port Edwards.
Work has been commenced on a new hotel at Port Edwards, the plans for which were drafted by Architect Hillyer of this city. The hotel will be three stories high and will have a sixty foot frontage on the main street at the Port.

When completed it will accommodate a large number of guests, as there will be twenty-six rooms with the other appointments in proportion. The new hotel will make quite an improvement in the appearance of things at the Port, which is beginning to take on the appearance of a bustling little city.

FREE. A present will be given with every purchase at Hillebrand's on Saturday.

A Resident of Panama.
Gus Franks, a former resident of this city, but for the past twelve years a resident of the tropics, has been visiting friends in this city for several days during the past week. Mr. Franks is in the employ of the government, and during the past two years has been stationed at Panama, and he tells some very interesting facts concerning the country down there.

Sewer Extension.
Sewer pipes are being laid on Third Street from the corner by Mrs. J. Balderston's residence two blocks south. When the sewer was laid on Third street some years ago the property owners along this stretch of street did not care to have sewer connections.

On a Serious Charge.
James Miller and Mrs. J. Russell, both of Wausau, were arrested in this city on Thursday by the sheriff of Marathon county. They were taken to Wausau where they were examined and bound over to the circuit court to await trial. The complainant in the case was Mrs. James Miller, wife of the runaway man.

JOHN A. AYWARD.

Democratic Candidate for Governor.

We present to our readers this week a picture of John A. Ayward, of Madison, who has been nominated by the democrats of Wisconsin for governor. It is hardly necessary to give our readers any of the particulars of Mr. Ayward's life, as it was done some time ago when he was nominated. He is a lawyer by profession, and a good one. He has proven this fact during the time he has held the position of city attorney

BLENKER.
Misses Marie and Anna Klement of Arbor Vitae are the guests of Miss Lizzie Blenker for a few days. Miss Agnes Reinhardt of Randolph was visiting Miss Laura Provost Sunday and Monday.

Several of our young people went to Milladore Saturday night to take in the dance.

The Altman ball was largely attended many coming from surrounding towns.

This work on Mr. Grassle's residence is nearing completion. Blenker is assuming quite a village aspect.

Miss Provost spent Saturday with Mrs. Belle Scanlan at Junction City.

Miss Agnes Reinhardt spent Sunday and Monday at Blenker the guest of Miss Laura Provost.

Misses Lizzie Blenker and Laura Provost gave a card party last Monday evening in honor of their friends Misses Klement of Arbor Vitae and Miss Reinhardt of Randolph. The first prize was claimed by George Blenker while Miss Anna Klement was awarded the consolation.

John Blenker was down to Chicago a few days last week.

Mr. and Mrs. Frank Beranek were at Marshfield last Thursday for the purpose of having their baby photographed.

George Booth of Marshfield is scaling lumber for J. E. Blenker this week.

Miss Mona Altman has gone to Marshfield to learn the dressmaking trade.

Never Lonesome.
In the course of conversation an acquaintance remarked to the farmer's wife: "I should think it would be lonesome for you here, so far from the village," to which the reply came: "Lonesome? Gosh, no! Why, on a clear day we can see the mountains."

VANDRIESEN.
Mr. and Mrs. I. Jero drove to Plainfield Monday.

Miss Ethel Jero is visiting at her brother's this week.

Don't forget the church sale at Ganessey's Oct. 25th.

Harry Jero, who has been seriously ill in Grand Rapids for several weeks, was able to be moved to his home here this week.

School attendance is small at present, owing to the children helping in the potato fields.

Mr. and Mrs. Moon drove to Friendship Friday.

A Creeping Conifer.
When planting on rock work an evergreen of a creeping habit is often very valuable. The best creeping conifer is the savin. There are a number of forms of the creeping juniper, making varieties of the common juniper and this species. Its color is a beautiful shade of deep green, and it has a free and graceful habit of growing.—Garden Magazine.

The Sound of Arms.
Military expenditures of the principal countries of the world were as follows in 1904-5: United Kingdom, $157,798,190; India, $100,878,470; Austria and Hungary, $87,975,260; France, $136,993,715; Germany, $151,208,135; Italy, $57,255,700; Japan, $23,337,255; Russia, $194,208,920; United States, $115,843,865.

Few Timepieces in Abyssinia.
As regards timepieces, the Abyssinian market has been practically neglected. It has not yet become a fashion among the natives to carry watches, and what few clocks are seen in the local shops are chiefly of the cheap alarm type. The chief of German, French, Belgian or American origin. Gold and silver watches are scarcely to be found anywhere.—Horological Review.

WON GREAT MATCH.
Fred Beell defeated Dan McLeod in two straight falls at Chicago.
Fred Beell, the Marshall wrestler, won a great match in Chicago last Friday night when he defeated Dan McLeod, the champion middle weight wrestler of the world. The following from the Chicago Tribune, is a pretty good account of the match:
"In one of the cleverest and hardest fought bouts ever seen on a local mat Fred Beell, the Wisconsin champion, threw Dan McLeod, the old Montreal star, in straight falls in the windup of the wrestling show at Brooks' Casino last night at catch-a-catch-can."
"Despite the fact that Beell and McLeod are without exception the two best light heavy-weights in the world, the attendance was poor, due possibly to the supposition that the match might not be on the level. No sooner, however, did the men begin to wrestle than the spectators saw their mistake, and everyone in the building settled back in his seat to watch a battle which proved to be a thrilling affair from start to finish, and that the fight from start to finish was due entirely to his age, his youth being the deciding factor, after McLeod, who is thirteen years his senior, had fought on gamely but lacked the endurance to hold the younger man longer."
"When the men stripped for action there was nothing to choose in size. Each weighed about 170, and both were thick set and built close to the ground. Beell would pass for Charlie Dean, the celebrated driver of the Broncho, and like the reformed man, has never been known to drink a drop of alcohol in any form. His skin glowed with good health and he appeared trained to the hour. McLeod, on the other hand, while in good condition, showed the traces of his years of training and scores of hard battles on the canvas, but his friends thought his experience would carry him thru to victory."
"Referee Siler explained that the struggle would be barred and that tugging and rolling falls would not count. Then the pair of bulls got together. McLeod was the aggressor, but he was surprised to find Beell the most slippery proposition he had ever tackled, and every time he would try for a hold the Wisconsin man would shift to another position."
"For ten minutes Dan tried everything in the catalog on his outside opponent, but failed to secure anything like a winning hold, and tiring a trifle, Fred assumed the aggressive and went after Dan in hurricane fashion. Finally, after they had been at it twelve minutes, Beell obtained a half nelson that looked like the money. Dan, however, wriggled out of it cleverly."
"At sixteen minutes McLeod got his man by the feet and landed to stand Fred on his head for a pivot, but with a couple of froglike leaps Beell dragged himself out of the difficulty and in a moment was on top of Dan. Then the men struggled like mad for a long stretch without either gaining an advantage, but the pace was beginning to tell, and it was only a question of time when one or the other must weaken."
"At twenty three minutes Beell secured another half nelson that looked like the goods, but once more McLeod broke the hold, and Fred made up his mind to try something different. For ten minutes Beell played for a hammerlock and finally got it. Every one thought Dan would go under easily, but with one mighty twist he broke the hold. Beell was after him like a cat after a mouse and in less than a minute obtained another hammerlock, this time a double hold. Slowly he began to roll Dan over onto his back, but the Scot would not yield and fought his way out of his opponent's clutches."
"They had gone thirty two minutes now and Dan was tiring fast. Beell saw that the deadly hammerlock was doing the work and continued to play only for this hold, and after using it twice more shifted to a half nelson. At last he got Dan where nature refused to respond, and in just thirty three minutes and thirty six seconds from the time they got the word to wrestle, pinned the game fellow's shoulders to the mat."
"After fifteen minutes' rest the men came out for the second and what proved the deciding fall. Beell looked fresh and strong, but McLeod was the worse for wear and appeared a bit distressed. They made it lively from the beginning, with Beell doing the leading. But Fred employed entirely new tactics, playing almost entirely for a head hold, which, to the crowd, looked like a struggle but was absolutely fair."
"McLeod had plenty of fight in him, and did his best, but could not get away from the head hold. Finally after nineteen minutes and seven seconds of strenuous work Beell got a hold above Dan's nose, which shut off the latter's wind, and, although McLeod desperately tried to break it, he succumbed to the inevitable and gradually sank to the floor a beaten man. "Both were cheered to the echo when they regained their feet and McLeod when able to speak said the winner was the best man of his weight he had ever met."

For Register of Deeds.
We present to our readers herewith a picture of Charles E. Bole, the candidate for register of deeds of Wood county on the democratic ticket. Mr. Bole is a man whom the voters of the county can place the utmost confidence in. He is an active and intelligent young man, with a training for several years past that especially fits him to fill the office for which he has been chosen by his party, and if he is elected there is no question but what he will save the county to the best of his ability.

George Huntington Favors the Tribune With Some Interesting Information.
La Bore, Sept. 18, 1906
Grand Rapids Tribune
Gentlemen: I am building a new pole line and stringing two pairs of wires from La Bore to Panama and Ancon. This mile is across an old volcano crater and the balance of the distance is along the edge of hills of stone and dirt which may have been thrown up from the bowels of the earth ages ago, for their formation is like great piles of rock and dirt heaped to mountain heights. Ancon Hill is of this formation and between seven and eight hundred feet high and is one of the hills which form the edges of this great crater as is also La Bore hill.
The latter is of a more stable foundation and only about one-half as high. The formation of La Bore hill is rock. The layers of rock have a peculiar formation, the rock near the surface being soft and easily dug with a pick or digging bar. Where the action of the weather gets at it it crumbles away and forms dust in the dry season (good dusty dirt), and in the wet season (good muddy mud). Just before a rain you have the best footing and one half hour later, after a tropical shower, it is the muddest and you ever saw. Well, a little farther down from the surface in a hard formation which a Gringo engineer at Calaha has taken to be fine rock to make macadam roads. (Gold hill at Calaha has the same formation as La Bore hill), and proceeded to make a very fine road on the top of the hill at Calaha where all the head chiefs have been moved to and a good piece of road building would bring his hill to the notice of all the big chiefs. It was rolled with a steam roller from the states so it could be made fine. It was fine. It was a love of a street. The big chiefs walked over it and were happy. Up comes a Panama rainstorm and the big chiefs had to go back thru the jungle, for every step they took on the dusty street punctured it as far as their knees.
Getting back to my story: This crater is in the neighborhood of eight miles in diameter. The Rio Grande river flows thru it and it is more or less of a swamp, inhabited by mosquitoes and alligators. As my new line is nearing Panama it is necessary for me to go into Panama to telegraph for supplies, etc. A noticed nothing doing yesterday, but today I had to go to the canal building near Central Place and I commenced to rubber at the decorations and met the following propositions thrown across the street: "Welcome." "Salud al digno huesped." "Saluda A Roca." "Panama es Saluda." "Al Diente Roca." "En Honor Secretario Roca." "Al Honorable A Roca." "Panama A Roca." and numerous other flag staffs stuck in a barrel of dirt to form a support to keep them in place. These decorations were numerous from the Panama railroad depot to Santa Anna Plaza, but from there to Cathedral Plaza there had not been much done as yet, but at Cathedral Plaza the trees and shrubs were decorated with artificial flowers and the Plaza was being surrounded with a series of incandescent lights about two feet apart. The supports for these lights were four by four decorated with artificial flowers stuck in barrels of dirt as before.
Also while running my pole line thru the jungle I ran across the noted French pig sty, which was built of rock and cement with cement troughs for the pigs to eat from. There were about fifteen stonemasons with water connections in each stonemason. The partitions are of cement and about roof high. A galvanized roof covers all. The outer walls were of chicken netting of about two inch mesh from the top of the cement wall up. The sty is situated in a forest of mango trees and during the mango season these hogs surely lived high. I am getting so I can go a mango myself and don't care about having any hogs kept in this old sty and would not mind building a line thru to Panama every season. From July to September 15th I gained 4 pounds while stringing that half mile of line. We hear the tenderfoot say that mangoes will give one the fever. It does. I had a fever every time I ate one. A fever for more mangoes, and then I had been one of those hogs so someone would bring the mangoes to me.
Adios until Thanksgiving day, when I will tell you all about it. Yours truly,
George Huntington.

Death of Mrs. Lanoweth.

Helped at Dedication.
Among the speeches delivered at the dedication of the new library at Appleton on Friday last was one by Prof. H. S. Youker of this city. That it was a good talk on the subject of libraries goes without saying, for when Mr. Youker takes hold of a matter of this kind he has something that is worth listening to.
Bert Walters was at Pittsville on Sunday and brought back with him Mrs. Walters and children, who will make their home in this city.
Eugene Warner, one of the veteran cranberry growers of the town of Cranberry, was in the city on Saturday on business.

Bound Over to Circuit Court.
Wm. Davis was arrested on Friday charged with having broken into Frank Hovanowski's saloon on First Avenue and stolen a quantity of whiskey, alcohol and cigars.
Davis said he was not guilty of burglary, that he had just looked in a window of the saloon during the evening with the intention of finding a place to sleep and that when he found he was in a house emptying he just took a nap before going to bed. However, he was not able to sleep very long, according to his own story, probably because there was a hard wood floor in the saloon and had been used to a nice soft floor, so he got up at four o'clock in the morning and sought new quarters.
When he was seen next morning he was said to be staggering under a peach of a fog, and the justice bound him over to the circuit court to await trial.
It is again rumored that the Chicago, Milwaukee and St. Paul railroad will build a Berlin-Wausau extension next year. In anticipation of the coming event the people of Stevens Point are bestirring themselves to induce the company to touch at their city provided the extension is built. As Stevens Point would be the largest place anywhere along the line, it ought not to be difficult to induce the company to swing a trifle out of a straight line in order to reach that city. But the designs of railroad companies are beyond the ken of ordinary individuals and there is no telling what they might be induced to do.
Declare 10 Per Cent Dividend.
At a recent meeting of the stockholders of the Onida Oil Co., a dividend of 10 per cent was declared, and the company has been in existence only about ten months. About $8,000 of the stock is owned by parties in this city. A. J. Hasbrouck being one of the directors. The company owns the wells on lease No. 73, near Ramona, Oklahoma, and has had excellent success ever since operation was commenced. The stock is sold to be a good investment at ten times what it was originally sold for, and our citizens are to be congratulated on being interested in such a paying property.
Convicted of Manslaughter.
Alexander McEwen, the man who has been on trial for the murder of Frank Grala of this city, was last week found guilty of manslaughter in the first degree. The jury was out for only an hour. Grala was reported to death in a room in Minneapolis, and the district attorney in summing up the case told McEwen that he was fortunate in having the charge against him manslaughter instead of murder in the third degree. The penalty is from five to twenty years in prison.

Caught a Real Fish.
A great many of our local fishermen get every year and catch fish. Some catch large fish and some small ones, but when they tell the story they are all of good size, not counting the extra large ones that always break the tackle just as they are brought to the top of the water.
But Dr. Looro has delivered the goods. He did not go fishing and after a few days stay, came back and say that he had captured a muskellunge that weighed 22 pounds and leave you standing on the street corner with your mouth open wondering what a 22 pound fish looked like.
Due went up to Harshaw and captured one that weighed 22 pounds and shipped it down and it was on exhibition in the Wood Co. drug store window, and anybody that doubted the weight of the fish could look at the scales. The fish is about three feet long, but to a real connoisseur fisherman it looked to measure about a rod in length with a weight of about fifty pounds at least. It is certainly a beauty and is worth making quite a trip to catch.
Fuel Is Scarce.
Local dealers report that wood is a scarce article at the present time, while the demand for this sort of fuel was never better than it is now. On account of the scarcity and consequent high price many are figuring on burning soft coal during the coming winter. The price of this commodity is also high, but those who purchase are not compelled to take quite such a poor grade as is often the case with wood.
During a conversation with one of the local dealers, that gentleman stated that four foot mixed wood was selling at $3.25 per cord and that maple would be $2.00 if he had any, but that it was impossible to secure a supply at the present time.
Is Pushing Brewery Matter.
Frank Hovanowski reports that he is going along with the matter of organizing a brewing company in this city, and that he is now ready to hear from those who wish to subscribe for stock in the new enterprise. The company will be capitalized for $50,000, and Mr. Hovanowski has headed the list by taking $25,000 of the stock. He expects to hold a controlling share of the stock and control the plant himself. He has been negotiating with the Wisconsin Central people and expects to secure a place of land near the Central depot to use as a site for the new plant, which would be very conveniently located and easily accessible to three railroads.
Will Hunt Ducks.
Gay Wood, Henry Dumitz, Robt. Momo and Dr. Chas. Panamint left on Tuesday for Rice Lake where they will spend a few days hunting ducks, provided there are any of this species of game to be hunted. Rice Lake is said to be a pretty good place for ducks when they are flying, but the weather has been so mild and pleasant so far this fall that very few have shown their appearance, and it is expected that they will come with a rush when the flight begins.
For Selling Liquor Locally.
Joseph Provost, who runs a saloon at Rudolph, was arrested one day last week by the state authorities charged with selling liquor without a license. From all that can be gathered it would seem that the whole matter was a mistake on the part of Mr. Provost, as he had secured a license for selling malt liquor and supposed that this included all the intoxicants usually sold at a saloon.
Business Change at Rudolph.
Fred M. Logan, who has run a general merchandise store at Rudolph for several years past, last week sold out the place to A. J. Kujawa of Stevens Point. Besides the money consideration involved in the deal Mr. Logan took a farm near Junction City as a part payment. It is reported that Mr. Logan will engage in farming.
Sold His Pacer.
On Saturday Dr. V. P. Norton sold his pacer to Stevens Point parties for $825, quite a good profit over what he paid for the animal. Under Dr. Norton's training the horse developed considerable speed and secured a mark of 2:34. The animal was seven years old and shows evidence of developing into quite a horse.
Body Taken to Illinois.
The body of Annette Role, which was interred in Forest Hill cemetery in 1903, was exhumed on Monday and shipped to Dakota, Ill., where it will be buried. The deceased was the wife of J. C. Role and formerly resided at Vesper.

Accommodating to the End.
A London furniture dealer who committed suicide the other day left a note explaining that he had done so because a friend of his asked him.
Simply Put.
An ounce of policy is worth a ton of luck, which, being interpreted, means that, unfortunately, rather than opportunity, is what—Puck.

Mary Dammann of Milladore and Joseph Sullivan of Kilbourn City.

While the people of Central Wisconsin have been enjoying fairly nice autumn weather the past few days, citizens in the west have been experiencing a record breaking snow storm, with necessary discomforts close to the freezing point. At Denver the press dispatches say there has been a fall of twenty-five inches of snow with lesser falls in other places. We have plenty of snow up here in Wisconsin as a general thing but it usually waits until winter before it comes.

John Moxley of Milladore transacted business in the city on Tuesday.
Rev. Geo. E. Dewey and family have moved into the Culo house on 6th street.

Ladies Only

We are giving away DINNER SETS, GRANITE-WARE SETS, COFFERS, SEWING MACHINES and hundreds of other articles, all just free for family use, to enable us to introduce our Baking Powder and various brands of Teas, Coffees and other household supplies. These are all high grade goods—absolutely guaranteed as to quality—cost no more than you are now paying for the same goods, and we depend entirely upon their merit to secure your future orders. Consequently we strive ever free promises, we give now customers and a year hence the people who formerly went to the dealers, as by dealing directly with our customers. We save the profit of the wholesaler and return, we can return it to you. We sell you the best quality meats, premiums and house goods at fair prices. Because you live miles away from us—because you are so far from the city—you can't go to our store. So we send you a trial order, absolutely free. We do not ask you to pay for it advance. We pay the freight, the cost of premiums and to send you and our plan of selling will be to let you calculate if you will send us your name and address. We have hundreds of persons whose custom we secured by this plan and we are now sending them more goods. We are sure you will be satisfied. We would not expect them to, because, the offer of this trial order is made in good faith. We would not pass upon us unless we can give you full value and fair treatment. We would not paper them. We know that you are thoroughly responsible. Write us today—no matter how far you live from us. We will send you a trial order, giving you name and address will do.

This is a chance that does not come every day.

RUN DOWN FROM GRIP

Dr. Williams' Pink Pills Have Cured The Form of Debility in Hundreds of Cases.

"Four years ago," says Mrs. F. Morison, of No. 1922 Carson street, South Side, Pittsburgh, Pa., "I took a cold which turned into grip. This trouble left me all run down. I was thin, had backache much of the time, had no appetite, my stomach was out of order and I felt no more and was weak."

"While I had the grip I had a doctor, but I really suffered more from the condition in which the influenza left me than from the grip itself. I was thin, had backache much of the time, had no appetite, my stomach was out of order and I felt no more and was weak. I could not seem to get any better until I began to take Dr. Williams' Pink Pills. I very quickly induced a hearty appetite, gained in weight and strength. Dr. Williams' Pink Pills are a wonderfully good medicine. Thanks to them I am now in fine health and have had no more grip."

Sheep-Killing Parrot.

The area is a greenish-brown parrot of New Zealand, which is dangerous to the sheep of that country as wolves would be in this country. It has a fast, nervous action on the backs of grazing sheep, fear through wool and skin to the kidney fat, which they devour, leaving the unfortunate animal to perish in agony.

Latest Fad in "Society."

The latest fad in certain "society" circles is to be given and receive. One phase of this more than usually absurd affliction takes the form of "giving" letters of introduction and the lack of consideration is not confined to the "giver" but extends to the "receiver" as well. One worthy young Italian, who is a member of one of the best Roman families, went to Newport this summer with a letter of introduction from prominent persons. But he had found it necessary to present them "in the flesh" to the "receivers" and the "giver" who asked to be received by her had a hard time of it and a young man whose letter to a society matron was ignored.

Lavender Creighton's Lovers

By OLIVIA B. STROHM

(Copyright, 1925, by Olivia B. Strohm.)

CHAPTER VI.

Next morning Lavender strolled idly into the woods back of the fort. The forest was still in the grip of the winter and the snow was still on the ground. The forest was still in the grip of the winter and the snow was still on the ground.

The woods were more friendly, silent, save the sighing of leafless branches in restless wooing of the spring. Already, promise of her coming lay in the tiny brown buds of yellow-green shoots that peeped bravely out beneath the sheltering folds of low-hanging snow.

Occasionally Lavender stopped to pick a twig that the frost had gilded, or a bit of snow to which he had spared the secret.

On a sudden, the whizz of an arrow rang in her ears, and she felt its wind rattle on her face. At the moment, an Indian staggered through the underbrush. He turned upon her the beseeching look of a wounded stag, then with a guttural moan, fell as if lifeless at her feet.

Her impulse was to run, leaving the wounded man to his fate. For fear of not another arrow follow—herself!—she marked.

But after a moment's hesitation, she knelt at the Indian's side, and lifted the unconscious head to her lap.

The ghastly face of feathers protruding from the back of his head, his fast, nervous action on the backs of grazing sheep, fear through wool and skin to the kidney fat, which they devour, leaving the unfortunate animal to perish in agony.

"What is in the paper? What does it mean?" "It is a lie, and it means a prison," he replied, tersely. Then, bending over the wounded man: "He must be brought to camp," he said; "and you—you are wretchedly uncomfortable; come, let me help you."

But she interrupted him. "I will not stir, or rouse this man until I know the contents of those dispatches; they fell from his knapsack, and I was about to put them back when I saw—" she hesitated, and looked around cautiously. "I saw your name, and another word, 'spy.' That was enough for me. I appropriated the dispatches. Now tell me the rest."

Bending low he whispered: "Burr is a prisoner. I am to be held here pending his trial. They have orders to arrest me."

A mischievous smile dimpled the corners of her mouth, and a little color crept into her pale cheeks. "Pardon me I have the orders to arrest you," she slipped the dispatches into their hiding place, and over the white folds of her snowy dress, she looked at him with a mischievous smile.

Winslow was about to remonstrate, but she shook her head in warning as the Indian stirred restlessly and opened his eyes. He tried to rise, but sank back helpless.

"The wound is slight," Winslow said, after a short examination; "but he is faint from loss of blood. Will you be a little brought here as quickly as possible."

On a sudden, the whizz of an arrow rang in her ears, and she felt its wind rattle on her face. At the moment, an Indian staggered through the underbrush. He turned upon her the beseeching look of a wounded stag, then with a guttural moan, fell as if lifeless at her feet.

Her impulse was to run, leaving the wounded man to his fate. For fear of not another arrow follow—herself!—she marked.

But after a moment's hesitation, she knelt at the Indian's side, and lifted the unconscious head to her lap.

The ghastly face of feathers protruding from the back of his head, his fast, nervous action on the backs of grazing sheep, fear through wool and skin to the kidney fat, which they devour, leaving the unfortunate animal to perish in agony.

"Mother and I will be waiting at the room." The commonplace invitation was given, and he turned to go. But he had a command, half-entranced. "This was emphasized, too, by a slight rustle of the papers as she clasped both hands to her bosom that rose and fell with every anxious breath."

When, an hour or two later, Winslow presented himself at Mrs. Creighton's door, it was with feelings hard to define. If the dispatch were discovered, or if it remained secret, were alternatives equally distasteful. The indignity of the guard house, the delay and ill-fame of a trial, scarcely more than balanced his horror of the prospect.

"I will leave it to Fate," he thought, as he knocked for entrance. And then: "No, I will leave it to her," was his decision, as the door opened and Lavender stood before him.

For a spite of the defiant sparkle in her eyes, and the scarlet in each cheek, there was a certain look of submission in her pale cheeks. "Pardon me I have the orders to arrest you," she slipped the dispatches into their hiding place, and over the white folds of her snowy dress, she looked at him with a mischievous smile.
